1. The related applications mentioned on pp. 1-2 of the specification (paragraph 0003) should be identified by their application number (and/or patent number, if any); it appears that the first application mentioned in that paragraph is actually the present ('583) application. Also, the patent number associated with related application 09/992,872 (US 6747562) should be inserted in paragraph 0001 in the appropriate place.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 10-11, 20-21 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Chuang (US 5987421), cited by applicant.

Chuang teaches, in a method, system and software system for a group of individuals within an amusement park (or "confined area of a facility"), providing each adult member of the group with a "guest ID device" or GID 7 (Fig. 2), and for children a C-GID 7a (Fig. 3), each having a "unique identification code", see e.g. col. 7, lines 31-32 and col. 8, lines 40-41 and 57-62; and providing, at various appropriate locations within the park, various sub-systems or "stations" denoted "ARS" (automatic rental stations) 2, "ISSU" (identification signal searching units) 3, and "EWR" (electronic waiting-in-line registers) 4--see e.g. Fig. 1, col. 2, lines 56-63, col. 9, lines 59-61, col. 11, lines 34-36, and col. 12, lines 30-31. Such devices collectively permit a group member to "search for the location, distance and direction...of all other members within the same group" (Abstract). In particular, the group members obtain the GIDs 7 (and C-GIDs 7a, as appropriate) at a given ARS 2, see e.g. col. 9, line 55 to col. 10, line 17, which implicitly require "personal identification information" for each member of the group (so as to enable the member-location-finding function of the system); a given ISSU 3 is used by a member to "request to find the location of other members of the group", see e.g. col. 11, lines 48-65. In addition, Chuang teaches providing various "messages" to a user of a given "station", see e.g. col. 9, lines 11-54, col. 12, lines 6-11, etc.

Art Unit: 2632

As to claims 10, 20 and 30, GID 7 is disclosed as a "personal mobile device" (see e.g. col. 4, lines 38-40, col. 8, lines 13-15 and Figs. 2-3), and messages such as the one at col. 12, lines 6-11 may be forwarded to the GIDs 7 (and 7a) from other components of the system (see e.g. col. 11, lines 48-50).

4. Claims 2-9, 12-19 and 22-29 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

The remaining art cited by applicant has been considered.

6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Thomas J. Mullen, Jr. whose telephone number is 571-272-2965.
